

Step on a crack , Break Your Mother's Back The young child's egocentric nature is also as she mentally connects her own actions with unrelated events because she is not always accurate in her understanding of cause/effect relationships.