

As part of my academic and professional development, I participated in an on-the-job training program at a school where I engaged in various technical, administrative, and creative tasks.