

This line shows how the pigs try to justify their actions and make the other animals feel better about the unfair treatment.