

Biomes are large geographic regions characterized by similar climatic conditions. They help in shaping earth biodiversity