

With the detailed buyer avatar in hand, and the most common complaints about competitors' offerings, we need to understand the overlap. Could you highlight key areas where the needs of the buyer avatar are not being fulfilled by current offerings? This would involve a comparison between the avatar's needs and desires, and the negative themes from competitor reviews. These gaps represent opportunities for us to differentiate and create unique value in our course.