

Positive media engagement is when an individual or organization actively works to build positive relationships with the media and create opportunities for positive portrayal in the press. Distributing important messages for public safety Determine deadlines for the press and must be available around the clock during a crisis period. This is done by: Communicate with the press and give them accurate information.