

A few years ago I went to the hotel to draw up a plan for me to smuggle crime and I went and turned off the electricity and ended up lighting the fire to gain their trust and they hired me with them I need to watch the camera and turn it off to escape Hitler and turn it off the electricity one day the day I went the hotel did not open an average art gallery and there were journalists and they snuck a bottle of alcohol and the barefoot ones turned to me and found me filming and they were able to the police and arrest me smuggling drugs and turned to there.