

Scientists have known for many years that chimpanzees are one of the most intelligent animals. One young chimp learned 40 different signs for specific subjects and understood some language concepts such as adjective, adverb, and verb. In recent experiments with chimpanzees, scientists have taught them sign language. They have been taught to use simple tools such as the brush, cup, hammer, and spoon.