Hello everyone today I will talk about As technology permeates every aspect of our daily lives, the intricate relationship between connectivity and mental health comes into sharp focus.