

Portfolio assessment is a method of assessment often used in academic and professional fields, where an individual's ability, progress, and achievement are evaluated through review of a pre-selected collection of work known as a portfolio. It encapsulates a collection of a student's work over an extended duration, demonstrating progress, competence, capacity, and accomplishment in specific fields. The portfolio can encompass various elements such as written tasks, reading records, projects, self-evaluations, alongside reviews from classmates or instructors.
