

As we all are well familiar with the environment, it is everything which surrounds us naturally and affects our daily lives on the earth. Any type of disturbance in the nature's balance affects the environment totally which ruins the human lives.