

What comes next ?They sell prepaid phonecards to the workers so that they can phone the families they left behind in their villages .When the factories built by the men from the villages start production , you begin to see women .