

The new-look Changi Airport in Singapore is roughly two- and-a-half times the size of the Vatican. More than £1 billion has just been spent on a massive revamp of the airport, which is now unlike any other on the planet. Changi has decided to bring the jungle of South-East Asia into the terminals