

1.o Private Law Contracts: Both parties are typically private individuals or entities, and the contract is governed by private law without direct involvement from public authorities. The other party is typically a private individual or entity.