It contributes to the growing body of knowledge on the use of modern technology in cultural institutions and provides practical insights for its successful integration into the museum sector