

Potential problems encountered in using Zara's information system include technical malfunctions, system downtime, data security breaches, compatibility issues and user errors. Zara's management is responsible for providing resources and setting policies regarding system maintenance and security, the IT department is mainly responsible for system maintenance and resolving technical issues, and each user has the responsibility to follow best practices and follow security procedures.