Animal partnerships involve groups of animals cooperating towards a shared objective. These partnerships can manifest as symbiotic relationships, where both parties gain benefits. A prime example is the relationship between bees and flowers: bees obtain nectar while simultaneously pollinating the flowers. Such partnerships are crucial for ensuring survival in natural environments.

Summarized by © lakhasly.com