

They informed me that there will be some delay for my surgery since there's a lot of patience but I'm happy that they actually told me that because I was anxious at that time waiting for my surgery