

variables (e.g. years of professional experience / in the current position). In addition, the explained variance (R square), the exponentiation of the beta coefficient, beta coefficient, standard error, z-values and p-values (2-tailed) were calculated. To test for multicollinearity between the regression coefficients, the variance inflation factor (VIF) was used.