

Mokattam, a plateau 200 meters above sea level, offers a unique combination of geographical features and a pleasant climate. Its limestone bedrock provides stunning panoramic views of Cairo, the Nile, and historical sites. This elevation also results in a more moderate climate than lower-lying Cairo areas. Finally, the diverse terrain lends itself to various outdoor activities and recreation.