

It focused all its resources thinking that it is in a growing industry and overlooked the future needs of customers.