

"One of the biggest challenges in the financial sector is that attackers keep getting smarter. That's why ongoing awareness training is essential. Employees need to learn how to spot suspicious emails, fake links, and social engineering