

Creating a healthy atmosphere that would keep employees contented. o A transparent appraisal system will instill their confidence in the company. When you are comparing and assessing performances, make sure it is devoid of any external manipulation. o Providing the right remuneration to employees after going through their skill sets and qualifications.