

One interpretation is that those with a more entry-level familiarity with GenAI tend to prioritize skills that enable automation of low-complexity tasks such as content summarization.