

Online and face-to-face learning each offer different advantages and challenges. However, it can lack the immediate feedback and personal interaction that face-to-face learning offers. Ultimately, I prefer f2f learning because it's easier to pay attention.