

We all know that money plays an important role in our life. What will the use of money be if it is spent unwisely and carelessly? Health is a splendid treasure that completes our happiness. It is very necessary, since we need it for our food, clothes, houses and many other purposes. If we are foolish, we shall never be really happy, however rich or healthy we may be. Wise people are very careful with their money and health, whereas foolish people soon waste their money or ruin their health. Of course this does not mean that money is the only source of happiness. Money which is ill-spent brings no real happiness or pleasure to us. So, to enjoy life we must have two other things in addition to money, health and wisdom. We can't enjoy life if we are not healthy. Last of all comes wisdom.
