

esides the great pleasure that reading stories provides for children, it is also an important source of information. It is a tool for building and strengthening children's linguistic capacities.