

I think there's no doubt that the majority of traders you know their primary business is advertising based.