

Waste disposal refers to the removal, disposal, recycling, or destruction of unwanted materials such as waste generated by agriculture, domestic use, or industrial products. Following proper waste disposal procedures will result in less pollution and environmental hazards.