

A Day at a Horse Riding Club Last week, I went with my family to a horse riding club. But one of the club's workers gave me some grass to feed it. He told me that horses are friendly animals, and like to be rubbed. I rode the horse, and it slowly walked around the arena. The fear disappeared after I fed and petted the horse.