Because most of the processes within the system are encapsulated, the behaviors may be reused and incorporated into new behaviors.