

This study was aimed at evaluating the original UMISPC, created by Moody et al. (2018), consisting of eight structures related to the Center, i.e. the values of roles, habit, neutralization, threat, fear, response effectiveness, reaction, and intent to comply. Track modeling verified the reliability and health of UMISPC, that this habit was not influential in the intention towards ISPC.