

When a bullet hits glass, we...Scanning: To check if the weapon matches the bullet used at the crime scene, the ballistics team uses microscopes, scanners and lead samples – from other crimes committed by the criminal – to compare a fingerprint printed on the bullet from the crime scene with the fingerprint printed on the bullet from the crime scene. The fingerprint found on a bullet from a pistol is not the same fingerprint found on a bullet from a rifle