

From the title that has been given, the development of this project must include how to design the mechanical part of machine using materials like mild steel, stainless steel and how to fabrication the system of this mechanical part.