

If I had gone to London alone, Saeeda would have had to manage alone, and the boys can be a bit of a handful! In the end, we decided to make the move together.