

Many people enjoy the benefits of physical exercise, such as improved mood and increased energy. Activities like walking, swimming, and biking are popular choices that provide various health benefits.