

Nowadays, computers and smartphones have become an integral part of our daily lives. However, they differ significantly in several ways.