

3) Consider promptly any significant areas of deficiency in financial reporting that might be improved through the standard-setting process