

as a guide in villages or open areas outside cities. To sum up, dogs are the right choice to adopt. Some others are could be pets. However, I totally prefer dogs as the best pets that a person could grow. Dogs are the most loyal animals in the world comparing to other animals. They would die for their owner without hesitating or thinking. Moreover, dogs are very helpful. Some of them might be wild.