In the late 18th century, the Founding Fathers were responsible for organizing a revolution against the British.