

A PESTEL analysis examines the external business environment facing a firm in 6 main areas; Political factor, Economic factors, Sociological factors, Technological factors, Environmental factors and Legal factors. Thus, for effective strategic planning, analysis of the external factors is the most important step before performing an analysis of the business' intrinsic strengths and weaknesses through a SWOT analysis.