

Careful planning helps you create specifications, which you can verify with your site provider to make sure that your site capabilities are what you want -- before you buy.