

This study aims to explore the impact of civic education lessons on enhancing citizenship values among primary school students, focusing on the fourth and fifth grades, based on their teachers' perspectives. The study addressed three main aspects: analyzing the effectiveness of curricula, classroom activities, and the achievement of educational objectives.