

He cited examples of how cyber criminals were getting better with technology, and pointed out that one could hire criminals through the dark web to commit cybercrimes.