

A young princess who, after her father's death, is sent to meet and marry a neighboring prince with whom a marriage has been arranged.