

In the context of the global Covid-19 pandemic and the quarantine, there were several impacts on different sectors, one of the critical sectors is Telecommunication (telecom) As an inevitable consequence of Covid-19, a lot of people used the telecom service for working from their homes or for entertainment. Which constituted a burden on the telecom companies to increase network flexibility and this affected the telecom investments Several reports were issued to address the impact of Covid-19 on telecommunication As indicated by the Communications and Information Technology Commission's Meqyas Quarterly Report for Internet Speeds and Digital Content Access Speed in the Kingdom of Saudi Arabia, stc is at the top of the list when it comes to the spread of 5G organisations in Saudi Arabia, with its networks having been extended to 43 new governorates in the kingdom.