

The audit planning process includes several procedures. Firstly, it is important to understand the client's business, including financing, legal framework, government norms, investments, accounting policies, business risk, and financial risk. Then, they should create an audit strategies or an overall plan (who, when and how).