

A computer is a device that is very similar to a calculator,as it receives information and processes it as appropriate for the user