

You are usually lying down for the procedure. The healthcare team will clean the area where the needle will go in. They may use a local anesthetic to numb the area.