

Its aim is to identify and address the gaps between the employer's workforce today, and its projected workforce needs